Q: What is the simplest way of making a slide down and up animation for a div tag? I'm trying to find a simple way of making a div tag animate down and then back up. I've done a bit of code and I can animate the slide down, but I can't figure out how to get the div tag to return to its original position when it's finished. Here's my code so far: $('#text').animate({ bottom: '-100%' }, 800, function() { $(this).animate({ bottom: 0 }, 800); }); #text { position: absolute; left: 20px; bottom: 40px; color: white; font-size:

20px; font-family: 'Open Sans Condensed', sans-serif; background-color: #6CBD72; } This is my text This is more text The idea being that when the slide down finishes the div tag returns to its original top position. A: i'd be trying something like this (not tested): $('.animation').animate({ bottom: '-100%' }, 800, function() { $(this).animate({ bottom: 0 }, 800, function() { $(this).css('bottom', 0).css('top', 0); }); }); you've got an extra line: $('#text').animate({ bottom: '-100%' }, 800, function() { $(this).animate({ bottom: 0 }, 800); }); #text { position: absolute
