FIFA 22 also introduces the “Man Cave,” a new way to enjoy FIFA from the couch, enabling people to participate on a global level. The “Man Cave” was first unveiled during the FIFA 20 Fan Festival event in Sydney on April 25, 2019. To access the mode, download the FIFA 22 app and select the Man Cave tab. Here, you can choose from several ways to play, including Standard Game, Advanced Game, Season Games or Play to Win mode. There is also a PS4-specific option to join user-created matches and play in tournaments. The Man Cave mode can be played while watching live streamed FIFA matches or recorded matches. There is also the option to play as a club coach and build your own team. Training tools allow you to improve the speed of your players and create tactics to increase their strengths. With the ability to store the camera angles from throughout the game, you can replay specific moments using the “Film from Any Angle” function, which works like a movie editor. A new “Keep the Ball in Play” function minimizes stoppages in the game. An additional new tool, “Keep the Ball at Your Feet,” enables quick shots from the pitch. FIFA 20 and FIFA 21 sold over 76 million copies in more than 145 countries, including 6 million FIFA 20 editions sold in Japan alone. FIFA 20 and FIFA 21 were the most successful retail sports videogames worldwide in 2019, according to IGA (Interactive Games Assay), a market research firm. At the end of 2019, new FIFA 22 content for retail players and new features for digital players will be available. “FIFA has been a world leader in football for close to 50 years, and its popularity continues to grow. In addition to more than a billion people playing worldwide, FIFA has sold over 3.5 million copies of FIFA 20 and FIFA 21 in Japan in 2019 alone,” said Kunio Mikura, President and Chief Executive Officer of Konami Digital Entertainment B.V. “We are extremely pleased by the success of FIFA and pleased to continue to work with EA Sports on the next generation of football games with FIFA 22.” “FIFA 20 Ultimate Team and FIFA Online 2 have been a tremendous success for us over the past two years. We would like to thank our players and partners for their continued support. We are excited for what FIFA 22 has to offer
