In human culture, we almost always have a feeling of the number 0. In human life, we assume that we are in an infinite series of events and never in a stable state of no change. Do we think life is a solid thing? I also always feel strong frustration because I realize: there is no life. You should ask yourself: how can we call it "life"? We think we will have a long life, but actually we won't! "If you live long, you will have a lot of hair" (Guanghui). "There is no life!" That's right. Our body and life will be one thing and then disappear. To think that we will never see the other side of life, it is very horrifying.
