DRB-HICOM Berhad (DRBHB.SI) shares, which came under intense selling pressure after the latest round of results disappointed, dropped 14 percent to RM4.68 on Thursday, their lowest in almost two years, as investors left out of the so-called “glut of floats” across the region worried that the earnings downgrades could drag down the group’s overall valuation. Berhad, which makes e-commerce platforms and logistics services, had said earlier this week it planned to sell up to RM1 billion worth of shares in two main offerings over the next five years. As part of the float, the Malaysian e-commerce company had earlier announced the issuance of its first 3 billion ringgit ($829 million) of preferred shares with a conversion price of RM2.75 per share, making its stock a dual-listed company. Malaysia’s corporate debt rose to a near-five-year high of 1.35 trillion ringgit at end-September 2018 as a weaker economy and subdued investor appetite for corporate bonds weighed on the borrowing market, data from the Bank Negara Malaysia showed last week. Though the weaker debt market is likely to improve as the government puts out more money for public works, concerns about rising debt levels may continue to constrain credit growth as banks stay conservative, said Dr Mohd Faiz K. Abdul Wahab, an economist at Bank Mandiri.

“In my opinion, the most important thing for the banks is to get out of the dual-listed companies. They have to find a way out ca3bfb1094
