This year's FIFA introduces advanced performance modelling that determines a player's technical, physical and psychological attributes. New attributes like "Explosiveness" and "Workrate" take into account a player's previous performance. "Aggressiveness" and "Creativity" abilities of the player are tuned using stats from real-life matches and evolving to deliver distinctive attributes. The players are quickly embraced by the community with focus groups and player interviews revealing their favourite features, biggest weaknesses and the stories behind them. The FIFA World Cup™, FIFA Club World Cup™, FIFA Women's World Cup™ and FIFA Confederations Cup™ bring together the world's best footballers for the biggest competition in world football. In 2015, the FIFA World Cup™ will be staged in Brazil across the host cities of 12 stadiums. Following the FIFA World Cup™ in Brazil in 2014, the FIFA World Cup™ will also be held in Russia in 2018, in line with FIFA's rules stipulating that two FIFA World Cups™ are staged every four years and that the host nation is guaranteed at least two games in the tournament. In June 2012, the FIFA Congress agreed to the introduction of two brand new competitions – the FIFA Club World Cup™ and FIFA Confederations Cup™. Unlike the FIFA World Cup™, the competitions feature 40 teams split across four continents, with four teams in each group competing in a round-robin format. The UEFA Champions League and UEFA Europa League winners automatically qualify for the finals, while the remaining four spots are filled by the winners of each of the four continental qualifying groups.

New strategic goalkeepers AI: Goalkeepers now react more naturally and make saves based on each situation - goalkeepers will communicate with their team and pass backward when they are the last line of defence. Plus, they will do their best to stop the opposition's shots, and even pick up crosses if the player aligns into the right position.

New tactical goalkeepers AI: Using the new tactical goalkeepers AI, goalkeepers will now communicate with their team based on the situations they are presented with. Unlike the new strategic goalkeepers, tactical goalkeepers will only communicate when they are asked to do so.

New tactical players AI: Since the release of FIFA 18, tactical players in the opposition have got smarter. The opposition will now communicate in preparation for goal situations more effectively. They will also pass backwards more consistently and deliver the perfect ball at the right time. New delivery control: Players can control the delivery of their set-piece more effectively with precision passing. Players will change the trajectory of the ball with their feet, making it more difficult for the goalkeeper to anticipate and parry the ball. New limited sprint: Players can now sprint for longer distances with greater control, attacking the opposition players and changing direction more effectively. A goalkeeper can also sprint further to reposition or get deeper to prevent shots. New sprint for goalkeepers: Goalkeepers can sprint for greater distances to reposition faster or move deeper. New vertical acceleration: Players can move more effectively in different directions, making them harder to predict and more difficult for the opposition to take advantage of.
