Police have said that they don't know who did it or what was the motive behind it. Most of the Metro train services in Delhi are running today and traffic is dense. @htTweets pic.twitter.com/IPZMh8RUSB — Press Trust of India (@PTI_News) January 17, 2020 Two charred buses were found in south Delhi's Mandir Marg in the wee hours of Friday, barely days after they were found burnt near the renowned Guruvayur Temple in Kerala, officials said. No one knows who did it or what was the motive behind it. Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal blamed the BJP for the attack. "After taking a cue from the BJP, they are smearing the Delhi CM in newspapers. I will not tolerate it," he said, and accused the party of hatching a conspiracy to disturb "Delhi's peaceful atmosphere" ahead of the Assembly elections in the city on February 8. Police said the charred buses were found in the area around 2:30 am, with their rims burnt and tyres punctured. No vital information, such as the number plate or the registration plate of the buses, was left behind, which has prompted them to believe that it is a way of protest or "feud". "We 6d1f23a050
