After spending the night with the local men and women, "we turned in" (as they say) and slept quite well. We had a wonderful time on Hiva Oa, a small tropical island off the northeastern coast of the main island of the Marquesas (which is also called Marquesas). It is the classic romantic destination in the French Polynesia. A quiet, tropical isle with marvelous white sand beaches, huge lagoons, vast, isolated mountainous peaks, and lush foliage, Hiva Oa is as close to paradise as you can get. We only spent two nights on the island, as we were focused on our mission of delivering our artifacts to the University of Washington History of Art and Archaeology and Anthropology and the University of Colorado Museum of Natural History. The following morning we got up and went to the local village to buy some trinkets to show our appreciation to the crew. Their culture is fascinating and I wish I could have had more time to learn about it. As soon as we finished visiting the market, we drove to the airport to catch our flight back to Tahiti, where we had to head our last 6d1f23a050
