Consisting of seven hectares, it is located on the southern end of the East Angus Nature Reserve (comprising 44 hectares) on the opposite side of Armstrong Creek from Mount Pleasant Scenic Reserve. The reserve was acquired in 1994 by a private landowner, who allowed access to the public. A number of rare, but locally extinct, vegetation types occur in and around the reserve, including valley myrtle-fern, broad-leaved fern, nettle-oak and damp paperbark. These are under threat from a number of impacts, including overgrazing, fire, climate change, pollution and invasive species.
