partner. Donald Trump just won the Iowa caucus, becoming the Republican Party's next nominee. The billionaire businessman edged out Texas Senator Ted Cruz by about 50,000 votes. Trump's supporters at a rally at the Iowa Events Center chanted "build that wall" following the results, while Cruz supporters were broken down in tears at the nearby Fieldhouse. The Associated Press credited low turnout for Cruz' loss and blamed the result on Iowa voters who were disillusioned with the Democrats: "John Deppner, Cruz's campaign manager, said the result shows Iowa Republicans are fed up with the Democrats and looking for an alternative. 'They either like Cruz, or at least they don't want to see Hillary Clinton or Bernie Sanders on the ballot,' Deppner said, adding that Republicans are also disillusioned with the GOP, which 'is as exciting as a box of hair.' Donald Trump is the only one who can make exciting the Republicans, he said. 'There's only one person. It's time for America to get behind him.'"Synergistic effect of co-trimoxazole plus nifuroxazide in improving the cure rate of cutaneous leishmaniasis in Iran. The therapeutic efficacy and safety of nifuroxazide in combination with trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole as treatment of cutaneous leishmaniasis (CL) is unknown in Iran, where the disease is highly endemic. This randomized, controlled trial compared the cure rate of 168 Iranian patients infected with Leishmania major in the presence or absence of concomitant therapy with nifuroxazide plus trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole. Of the 168 patients, 105 received this combination for 42 days, and 63 were given trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole plus placebo. Cure was observed in 11 (17.5%) of the 63 control group patients and in 41 (39.0%) of the 105 nifuroxazide group patients. When analyzed by intention-to-treat, this combination was more effective than trimethop c6a93da74d
