Final but not less essential is usually your own factor to our result in. "Nostalgia" is the experience of pleasure, distress, or affect associated with the recall of a past event, thought, experience, or self (the past) (Maccoby, 2013, p. 1610). Past events were once important and are associated with memories of joy, but it is no longer the case with technology, especially the internet and smartphones. Not only do devices such as phones make it difficult to recall past events, but now people also forget the past.
