Cracking Adobe Photoshop is not as simple as installing it. First, you'll need to locate the installation.exe file and run it. Then, locate the patch file and copy it to your computer. You'll then need to launch Adobe Photoshop and enter the serial number generated by the keygen. The patch file will be used to unlock the full version of the software. You should now have a fully functional version of the software. Just remember, cracking software is illegal and punishable by law, so use it at your own risk.

You can also lock Libraries to prevent other people in your company from accidentally overwriting them. That's a tradeoff, I suppose. I do not know think that you can apply Library protection to individual images, so that might be a problem if you keep those files in a public Dropbox folder. In any case, Photoshop is still a top-notch content creation tool and it is still faster than virtually any competitor. The only areas where it is lacking are raw file editing and image editing plugins. The rest of Photoshop to me is a useful tool to create properly-formatted files on your own or to extend and optimize someone else's work. I believe that the company is aware of the limitations of its Photoshop application and is working on it. I expect that most of these gaps will be fixed with CS6. Update: I may have mentioned this in the review, but I thought I would mention it now. There is no longer the library option in Photoshop CS6. There is an internal database that that does both taxonomy and version history. I can't tell you much more about that. If you use a library, you can do it with Photoshop CS6. Nice review but after upgrading to LR5.2 RC I think performance is better than with LR4. Working on a project with 1500 D800 NEFs my impression is that the smart previews increase speed while working in the Developer mode – in Lib. mode however everything slows because the JPEG previews are used. So far I am not sure how the Jpegs are used as previews when you have the smart previews (DNGs) available. But have to say that I am happy with 5.2 RC although I will say bye-bye to LR the day they make it part of CC.
