Eriqet - James D. .The invention relates to a device for handling a yarn package, and particularly a device that transfers a yarn package between different frames. A variety of devices are used to handle a yarn package. In some cases, the yarn package is transferred between a first frame and a second frame, both of which are part of the same unit. In other cases, the yarn package is transferred between a first frame and a second frame that are located on different units. In the latter case, the two frames are typically connected together to facilitate transferring the package between the two frames. A package handling device for transferring a yarn package between two frames of a continuous-yarn feeder is shown in U.S. Pat. No. 5,918,529. The yarn package is transferred from one of the frames to the other through a package transfer arm that is mounted on a frame. In the ""529 patent, the package transfer arm is mounted to a rotatable yoke that is rotatably mounted to the frame. The yoke is mounted to the frame with a ball-and-socket joint that allows the yoke to rotate with respect
