India's President Pranab Mukherjee on Friday met actor-politician Shashi Tharoor here for the first time and vowed to consider the views of the latter if his new book suggests the need to raise the retirement age. Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday spoke to the BJP-ruled states and asked them to ensure that the central government gets a copy of the draft rules to increase the retirement age of central government employees by an average five years in a phased manner. Mukherjee, accompanied by his wife Mrs. Radhika Roy, called on Shashi Tharoor at his residence in South Delhi around 1.30 p.m. and they held a talk for nearly a half an hour. The president, who also met National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, took "note of the draft rules to increase the retirement age" of central government employees, the PMO said in a press statement. "The draft rules for that are yet to be sent," Prime Minister Narendra Modi told the states, according to a statement. The prime minister said that the government has "already indicated" its support to a five year delay in the retirement age of central government employees and asked the states to "ensure that the correct draft rules are sent to Delhi within a short period of time". The next step would be for the cabinet to have a meeting on the issue. "I understand that there are certain concerns regarding the timing of such a move," he said. As per the draft rules, the government will fix the age of retirement after work based on the average tenure of the respective cadre. In other words, the average tenure in a given cadre will determine the age at which an employee would be eligible for retirement. The idea behind this is to ease the burden of employees with a longer tenure as the tenure gets higher. The draft rules will also allow the retirement age to increase gradually. The retirement age of central government employees has been fixed at 58 years. Under the fresh move, they will be able to retire after 60 years. El régimen de Nicolás Maduro no acaba de sorprender y, una vez más, se encuentra en un nuevo caos. El país es la segunda mayor economía de Latinoamérica y entre mayo y julio de este año, la inflación ha pasado de más del 10% a más del 25%. El agravante está
